Ho Chi Minh City

You can begin with Ho Chi Minh City where foreign tourist can get Vietnam visa on arrival at Tan Son Nhat airport easily. Ho Chi Minh City aka Saigon is located in the southeastern part of the country and the largest city on the scale of economic, population, and culture. Amazing street food, vibrant lifestyle, and mixed architecture that are the markable points of the city impress tourist's heart. There are plenty of things and places keep tourists busy around the city such as Notre Dame Cathedral, the War Remnants Museum, Ben Thanh market, Bui Vien walking street, etc.

The best things to do in Ho Chi Minh city are the river trips from Saigon River. Recently there is a bus route on the Saigon river for tourists to witness the city, it receives a lot of care from local people and tourists. In the suburb of the city, the Cu Chi tunnels is a historical site you should visit to know deeper about the Vietnam war. The night in the city is extremely vibrant. Let's go out at night and wander around Nguyen Hue street, Bui Vien street to know how the phrase "life is short but the night is still young" really is.

Sapa

Leaving the busy tasks behind, taking a Hanoi - Lao Cai train to have a Sapa tour to feel the romantic and majestic of mountains and rivers. Located at the altitude of over 1000 meters above the sea, Sapa is a small mountainous town in the northwest of Vietnam. Firstly discovered by French in the early of the 20th century, Sapa quickly became a summer retreat of French thanks to the temperate climate. From a small village, there were the blocks of villas, and concrete buildings filled and the appearance of Sapa was changed. From that time, Sapa is an ideal tourist destination in the north for tourists to relax and escape the heat of summer.

There are many beautiful sites in Sapa that you have to visit to see in your own eyes such as Sapa Catholic Church, Sapa night market, etc. Especially, coming to Sapa in the ripe rice season, you will have a chance to see the yellow silks of the most beautiful rice terraces in Vietnam which is extremely gorgeous. Besides that, Sapa has the exciting trekking routes for those who love adventuring, and the trekking route to Mt. Fansipan is the most expecting trekking route in the area.

Halong Bay

Among the amazing tourist sites in Vietnam, Halong Bay is the most popular site that receives a lot of applause of tourists. With the breathtaking natural beauty, there is no wonder it is one of the new seven natural wonders of the world.

The best way to admire Halong Bay is cruising. While cruising, you will have the chances to see huge limestones around and beautiful blue color of the sky. There are many interesting activities to do in your Halong bay cruise trip, you can get a kayaking boat to explore the sea area with friends under the guidance of tour guide. In the itinerary, you will visit the caves on the small islands. Besides that, swimming and snorkeling here shouldn't be missed as well. Of course, don't forget to watch the beautiful sunrise and sunset in Halong Bay, all of the interesting things make Halong Bay magical and more famous every day.

Dalat

Nestled in the southern part of Vietnam's central highlands, Dalat is the city of thousand kinds of flowers. Located at the altitude of over 1000 meters above the sea, Dalat luckily owns the temperate climate which is cool and fresh all year round, so it is very suitable for planting the temperate flowers and vegetables. There are thousands of flowers blooming all the year which create the poetic and romanced beauty of the city. In the heart of the city, Xuan Huong lake is like the eye of a beautiful girl with the long and pretty eyelashes of the lush pine trees. Dotted with French architectural villas, the city is an ideal destination for the couples who want to have a sweet honeymoon week.

Danang

Danang is the most livable city in Vietnam located on the banks of Han River and facing to the South China Sea, this is a must-see destination in Vietnam that all tourists should visit at least once in life. The city features many interesting and beautiful tourist sites such as My Khe beach - one of the cleanest beaches in Vietnam, Bana Hills, Son Tra peninsula, etc. Moreover, the city is near to many tourist destinations in Central Vietnam such as the former capital of Hue in the north, Hoi An ancient town and My Son sanctuary in the south, etc. The cuisine of the city is extremely delicious and various, so when visiting Danang city, you must take a food tour to enjoy the food in the street food stalls to feel the flavor of the sea city.
